The Academic Advising and Student Success Center

The Academic Advising and Student Success Center houses several student support programs, all designed to provide students with wrap-around student support services which include one-on-one intrusive academic advising, coaching, professional and leadership development and a variety of workshops focusing on student academic, financial and personal wellness. Programs like Link, the Urban Male Initiative (UMI) and Women Intentional about Success and Excellence (WISE) are three student support programs offered through the Center. These programs are open to all students.

DSF; GEAR Up Scholars; First Year Experience (FYE)

DSF and GEAR Up scholarship recipients' as well as FYE participation in success programming with your Academic Advisor fulfills the program requirement for additional institutional scholarships you may be awarded.

Link

The Link program includes consultation with your Advisor to review a structured Success Guide that provides individualized support as you move along your academic journey. The Guide serves as a map to resources and services that best support credit completion. It is designed to promote self-advocacy, student engagement, semester to semester completion and graduation/transfer readiness.

UMI

The Urban Male Initiative (UMI) provides relevant experiences for male students at Community College of Denver to ensure academic success, professional growth and social maturity in the areas of education, leadership, career exposure, social awareness and community involvement. Students in UMI are expected to meet with their Academic Advisor on a regular basis and actively participate in the program.

WISE

Women Intentional about Success and Excellence (WISE) is designed to facilitate professional and leadership development for women attending CCD. WISE seeks to enhance the overall educational experience through one-on-one coaching, a series of workshops, panel discussions and guest speakers as well as opportunities to build community, network and participate in service learning/volunteer projects. Students in the WISE program are expected to actively participate in the program and meet with their Academic Advisor on a regular basis.

KEYS

Available only to KEYS scholars, this program is designed to assist displaced homemakers in becoming self-sufficient. A displaced homemaker is an individual who had been dependent on another household member's income and has lost that primary source of income. For more information, contact Crystal Hernandez, KEYS Scholarship Coordinator, at 303-352-3342. <https://www.ccd.edu/org/keys-scholarship>

HSI-STEM SIRVIENDO

Supports Hispanic/Latino and/or low-income STEM students (i.e., those working on Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math degrees not including Health Sciences) who plan to transfer to a 4-year college or university. HSI-STEM Sirviendo Scholars receive personalized assistance to identify career goals and develop educational plans to reach them. For more information and to apply for this program visit: <https://www.ccd.edu/hsi-stem>. Location: Science Building, Suite 1006, Phone Number: 303-352-6915

Warren Village

Available only to Warren Village residents and alumni. Warren Village is a transformational self-sufficiency program for single parents and their families. Warren Village offers affordable housing, case management, life skills programming resources, referrals, and on-site student support services for greater academic success. Students working with Warren Village are expected to meet with their Family Advocate on a regular basis, actively participate in the self-sufficiency program, and provide a copy of academic transcripts on an annual basis. Your Family Advocate can sign this form. <http://warrenvillage.org>

DREAMers United

Be part of an active community group that offers support along with volunteer opportunities so its members can positively impact society. Within the semester, students will be expected to attend monthly meetings and be involved in activities like high school visits, special events, etc. Contact scholarships@ccd.edu for more information and to get involved.
