Online Courses

Online courses have a professor and a class of 12 to 25 learners. Online courses have specific beginning and ending dates. Week by week, learners cover specific material, and there may be due dates for assignments. Online courses are not self-paced. On a day-to-day basis, learners retain control over their schedules; they don't need to be at their computers at a specific time on a specific day. Class participation and the exchange of ideas is the foundation of the CCD Online Learning program; although classmates and professors may be geographically remote, students will definitely be well-connected to them. Students must have access to a PC, an Internet Service Provider and an email account. Access online courses (with section numbers beginning with '7') at www.ccd.edu and clicking on the Desire2Learn icon at the bottom of the page.

CCCONline

Colorado Community Colleges Online offers classes in a convenient format that allows you to attend class, study and do homework from the comfort of your living room, home office, hotel room or anywhere else that has Internet access. You can take classes from any of the 13 Colorado Community College System institutions while you are a CCD student.

Through CCCOnline classes you can:

- Earn an associate degree or certificate in several program areas
- Take the prerequisite courses you need
- Bring your skills up to college level through developmental math, reading, English and English as a Second Language classes
- Cross off your list some of the general education classes you need for an associate's degree.

Register

Register for CCCOnline courses, get help with advising and financial aid questions, and view the most current schedule of classes at www.ccconline.org.

Questions

For 24/7 technical support call 888-800-9198. To participate in CCCOnline classes, you need Internet access, an e-mail account and a JAVA-capable browser.

Is online learning right for you?
