

FBLI is a joint venture program of Community College of Denver and the Hispanic Restaurant Association delivering language-based training specific to your industry.

FOOD & BEVERAGE LANGUAGE INSTITUTE

Are you a restaurant, beverage, or hospitality company with Spanish-speaking employees who want to improve their English language skills?

The Food and Beverage Language Institute (FBLI) has the answer for you!

- Help your employees build leadership and hospitality skills.
- Be part of the solution to bridge the language and cultural barriers to advancement in the Food and Beverage industry.

The program uses a hybrid learning model that incorporates flexible web-based learning enhanced by 1-on-1 instructional support and coaching.

Become part of the culinary history we are making with this first-of-its-kind program.

Training cost:

$500 per employee for a 3-month access window. This will allow your employee to begin a journey of education and elevation that allows for greater opportunities for them and their families now and into the future.

For more information, contact: Delta Donohue
Program Director for CCD – Community English Language Program
Delta.Donohue@ccd.edu or visit: CCD.edu/_____

