

CCD President Freeman participating in Colorado Black Round Table

Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 5, 2014

CCD President Freeman participating in Colorado Black Round Table

(Denver, CO) Community College of Denver (CCD) President Everette J. Freeman will participate in “African Americans in Higher Education: The Colorado Landscape,” a community discussion held by the Losing Ground Community Education Project of the Colorado Black Round Table (CBRT). As the new African American president of CCD, Freeman will be asked to share his views on issues, opportunities and concerns in Colorado’s higher education system alongside African American faculty, staff and administrators from other Colorado colleges and universities.

In addition to the community discussion, the CBRT will also celebrate Women’s History Month, recognizing black women who have made outstanding contributions to a better black community as well as outstanding educators who have made significant contributions to higher education in Colorado.

The events will be held together on Saturday, March 15, at the Hiawatha Davis Recreation Center. For more information about the event contact John Bailey, 303-745-9649.

Community College of Denver (CCD) is a leading point of entry to higher education for the City and County of Denver. CCD provides a cost effective college education, along with access and opportunity for non-traditional students, workforce development and training resources for local organizations, and community partnerships. For more information, visit www.CCD.edu Information on occupations, rates for completion and placement, program costs and median loan debt can be found at www.ccd.edu/gainfulemployment