

Discussion

1. Discuss topics created by your instructor
2. Used mostly in hybrid and online classes

The screenshot shows the 'Discussions' page with a filter set to 'Unread'. The main heading is 'Space Physiology'. Below it, there is a poll question: 'Hard core space travelers have debated whether space travel is good for your skin since the beginning. Answer the poll question below. Please vote and let your voice be heard! Yes or No.' A table below the text has three columns: 'Topic', 'Threads', and 'Posts'. The first row is highlighted with a red circle and contains the text 'Does Space Flight Dry Out Your Skin?', '1', and '1'.

Topic	Threads	Posts
Does Space Flight Dry Out Your Skin?	1	1

3. Click on blue link to Start a New Thread

The screenshot shows the topic page for 'Does Space Flight Dry Out Your Skin?'. It includes a 'Subscribe' link and a blue button labeled 'Start a New Thread' which is highlighted with a red box.

4. Subject and Body of message must be filled in. Attaching files is possible. Post once completed.

The screenshot shows the message composition form for the topic 'Does Space Flight Dry Out Your Skin?'. It includes a 'Subscribe' link, a subject input field (highlighted with a red box), a rich text editor with various formatting options, a 'Subscribe to this thread' checkbox, an 'Add attachments' link (highlighted with a red box), and 'Post' and 'Cancel' buttons (with 'Post' highlighted by a red box).