

MLA CITATION GUIDE (9th ed.)

Crediting your sources shows your research ethos and helps you avoid plagiarism. Include both In-Text citations and a Works Cited page to give proper credit.

In-Text Citations

In-text citations for direct quotes fewer than 4 lines are formatted using author-page style:

Citation Example:

(include author last name and page number)

According to Jones, “People often...” (24). [Narrative citation has the author’s last name in the sentence.]

As a study showed, “People often...” [Parenthetical citation has info in parentheses.]

Citation Example:

(include author last name and page number)

Direct quotes must have page numbers (no “p.” or “pp.” required):

Human beings have been described as “symbol-using animals” (Burke 3).

Wordsworth stated that Romantic poetry was marked by a “spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings” (264).

Direct quotes 4 lines or shorter are placed on the same line as your regular text, have quotation marks around them, and end with a period after the citation.

Direct quotes longer than 4 lines should appear in block format. The block quotation starts on a new line, is indented at 0.5 from left margin, does not use quotation marks, and ends with the period before the citation.

How to cite sources with multiple authors

2 authors (in-text)—cite both authors at all times. Use “and” both in-text and in parentheses.

Smith and Jones found that ... (12). The researchers found that ... (Smith and Jones 12).

MLA Citation Guide (9th edition)

3 or more authors (in-text)—use only the first author’s name and “et al.” for the rest.

Smith et al. discovered that ... (12). The researchers discovered that ... (Smith et al. 12).

Citation Example:

Secondary/indirect citations of sources (a source within a source)

Reference the original author in the sentence, and use “qtd. in” plus the source you found the information in, within the parentheses:

Ravitch argues that high schools are pressured to act as "social service centers, and they don't do that well" (qtd. in Weisman 259).
