

ROLAND J. SHAW

ADVISORY BOARD MEMBER, COMMUNITY COLLEGE OF DENVER

Roland J. Shaw serves as a proud member of the Community College of Denver (CCD) Advisory Council, offering a deep commitment to education access, student empowerment, and community partnership. As Principal of CEC Early College in Denver Public School, with leadership experience guiding the school since 2019, Roland brings first-hand understanding of career-technical education, concurrent enrollment pathways, and learner success in diverse settings.

Before CEC Early College he built his career focused on special education and student supports, demonstrating a track record of enabling greatness by helping teams and individuals actualize goals. Roland's work emphasizes building inclusive learning environments where students from all backgrounds have the opportunity to thrive.

On the CCD Advisory Council, Roland collaborates with college leaders, faculty, and community stakeholders to ensure that the college's programs and student supports reflect workforce needs, equitable outcomes, and strong partnerships between K-12 settings and higher education. His leadership reinforces CCD's mission to foster accessible, high-impact education for all Denver learners.
